

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE WESTERN DISTRICT OF MICHIGAN
SOUTHERN DIVISION

CHRISTOPHER DIBBLE,

Petitioner,

Case No. 1:13-cv-292

v.

Honorable Paul L. Maloney

MARY BERGHUIS et al.,

Respondent.

OPINION

This is a habeas corpus action brought by a state prisoner under 28 U.S.C. § 2254. Promptly after the filing of a petition for habeas corpus, the Court must undertake a preliminary review of the petition to determine whether “it plainly appears from the face of the petition and any exhibits annexed to it that the petitioner is not entitled to relief in the district court.” Rule 4, RULES GOVERNING § 2254 CASES; see 28 U.S.C. § 2243. If so, the petition must be summarily dismissed. Rule 4; see Allen v. Perini, 424 F.2d 134, 141 (6th Cir. 1970) (district court has the duty to “screen out” petitions that lack merit on their face). A dismissal under Rule 4 includes those petitions which raise legally frivolous claims, as well as those containing factual allegations that are palpably incredible or false. Carson v. Burke, 178 F.3d 434, 436-37 (6th Cir. 1999). After undertaking the review required by Rule 4, the Court will dismiss the petition without prejudice for failure to exhaust available state-court remedies.

Discussion

I. Factual allegations

Petitioner is incarcerated in the E.C. Brooks Correctional Facility. He was convicted in the Ionia County Circuit Court of one count of first-degree criminal sexual conduct and two counts of second-degree criminal sexual conduct. On February 17, 2009, the trial court sentenced him to imprisonment of ten-and-a-half to thirty years for the CSC I conviction and ten to fifteen years for each of the CSC II convictions. Petitioner filed an appeal as of right in the Michigan Court of Appeals raising the following two claims of error:

- I. MR. DIBBLE WAS DENIED HIS STATE AND FEDERAL RIGHTS TO A FAIR TRIAL BECAUSE THE PROSECUTOR WAS PERMITTED TO INTRODUCE INCIDENT AFTER INCIDENT OF ALLEGED PRIOR BAD ACTS AGAINST HIS FORMER WIFE AND SON-IN-LAW THAT WERE OFFERED FOR LEGALLY IMPERMISSIBLE PURPOSES AND THE PREJUDICE FROM WHICH FAR - AND UNFAIRLY - OUTWEIGHED THEIR PROBATIVE NESS.
- II. MCL § 768.27a IS AN UNCONSTITUTIONAL EX POST FACTO LAW THAT VIOLATES BOTH THE FEDERAL [AND] STATE CONSTITUTIONS BECAUSE IT ALLOWED THE STATE TO CONVICT APPELLANT OF CRIMINAL SEXUAL CONDUCT ON LESS OR DIFFERENT EVIDENCE THAN THE MICHIGAN RULES OF EVIDENCE REQUIRED AT THE TIME [SIC] OF THE ALLEGED OFFENSE.

The Michigan Court of Appeals rejected Petitioner's claims and affirmed his convictions in an unpublished opinion issued on November 16, 2010. Petitioner raised the same two claims in his application for leave to appeal in the Michigan Supreme Court, which was denied on September 4, 2012.

In his application for habeas corpus relief, Petitioner seeks to raise the same two claims raised before and rejected by the Michigan appellate courts. Petitioner also moves for a stay of these proceedings (docket #3) while he files a motion for relief from judgment in which he intends to raise one or more new claims concerning newly discovered evidence.

II. Exhaustion of State Court Remedies

Before the Court may grant habeas relief to a state prisoner, the prisoner must exhaust remedies available in the state courts. 28 U.S.C. § 2254(b)(1); O'Sullivan v. Boerckel, 526 U.S. 838, 842 (1999). Exhaustion requires a petitioner to “fairly present” federal claims so that state courts have a “fair opportunity” to apply controlling legal principles to the facts bearing upon a petitioner’s constitutional claim. See O'Sullivan, 526 U.S. at 842; Picard v. Connor, 404 U.S. 270, 275-77 (1971), cited in Duncan v. Henry, 513 U.S. 364, 365 (1995), and Anderson v. Harless, 459 U.S. 4, 6 (1982). To fulfill the exhaustion requirement, a petitioner must have fairly presented his federal claims to all levels of the state appellate system, including the state’s highest court. Duncan, 513 U.S. at 365-66; Wagner v. Smith, 581 F.3d 410, 414 (6th Cir. 2009); Hafley v. Sowders, 902 F.2d 480, 483 (6th Cir. 1990). “[S]tate prisoners must give the state courts one full opportunity to resolve any constitutional issues by invoking one complete round of the State’s established appellate review process.” O'Sullivan, 526 U.S. at 845. The district court can and must raise the exhaustion issue sua sponte when it clearly appears that habeas claims have not been presented to the state courts. See Prather v. Rees, 822 F.2d 1418, 1422 (6th Cir. 1987); Allen, 424 F.2d at 138-39.

Petitioner bears the burden of showing exhaustion. See Rust v. Zent, 17 F.3d 155, 160 (6th Cir. 1994). Petitioner exhausted the two claims raised on direct appeal before the Michigan appellate courts. However, Petitioner has not yet exhausted the new claim(s) relating to newly discovered evidence. He may present his new claim(s) in a motion for relief from judgment under MICH. CT. R. 6.500 et seq. Under Michigan law, one such motion may be filed after August 1, 1995. MICH. CT. R. 6.502(G)(1). Petitioner has not yet filed his one allotted motion. Therefore, the Court concludes that he has at least one available state remedy. In order to properly exhaust his claim, Petitioner must file a motion for relief from judgment in the Ionia County Circuit Court. If his motion is denied by the circuit court, Petitioner must appeal that decision to the Michigan Court of Appeals and the Michigan Supreme Court. See Duncan, 513 U.S. at 365-66.

Because Petitioner has some claims that are exhausted and some that are not, his petition is “mixed.” Under Rose v. Lundy, 455 U.S. 509, 22 (1982), district courts are directed to dismiss mixed petitions without prejudice in order to allow petitioners to return to state court to exhaust remedies. However, since the habeas statute was amended to impose a one-year statute of limitations on habeas claims, see 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d)(1), dismissal without prejudice could effectively preclude future federal habeas review. This is particularly true after the Supreme Court ruled in Duncan v. Walker, 533 U.S. 167, 181-82 (2001), that the limitations period is not tolled during the pendency of a federal habeas petition. As a result, the Sixth Circuit adopted a stay-and-abeyance procedure to be applied to mixed petitions. See Palmer v. Carlton, 276 F.3d 777, 781 (6th Cir. 2002). In Palmer, the Sixth Circuit held that when the dismissal of a mixed petition could jeopardize the timeliness of a subsequent petition, the district court should dismiss only the unexhausted claims and stay further proceedings on the remaining portion until the petitioner has exhausted his claims in the state court. Id.; see also Rhines v. Weber, 544 U.S. 269, 277 (2007) (approving stay-and-abeyance procedure); Griffin v. Rogers, 308 F.3d 647, 652 n.1 (6th Cir. 2002).

Petitioner’s application is subject to the one-year statute of limitations provided in 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d)(1). Under § 2244(d)(1)(A), the one-year limitations period runs from “the date on which the judgment became final by the conclusion of direct review or the expiration of the time for seeking such review.” Petitioner appealed his conviction to the Michigan Court of Appeals and the Michigan Supreme Court. The Michigan Supreme Court denied his application on September 4, 2012. Petitioner did not petition for certiorari to the United States Supreme Court, though the ninety-day period in which he could have sought review in the United States Supreme Court is counted under § 2244(d)(1)(A). See Bronaugh v. Ohio, 235 F.3d 280, 283 (6th Cir. 2000). The ninety-day period expired on December 3, 2012. Accordingly, absent tolling, Petitioner would have one year, until December 3, 2013, in which to file his habeas petition.

The Palmer Court has indicated that thirty days is a reasonable amount of time for a petitioner to file a motion for post-conviction relief in state court, and another thirty days is a reasonable amount of time for a petitioner to return to federal court after he has exhausted his state-court remedies. Palmer, 276 F.3d at 781. See also Griffin, 308 F.3d at 653 (holding that sixty days amounts to a mandatory period of equitable tolling under Palmer).<sup>1</sup> Petitioner has far more than sixty days remaining in his limitations period. Assuming that Petitioner diligently pursues his state-court remedies and promptly returns to this Court after the Michigan Supreme Court issues its decision, he is not in danger of running afoul of the statute of limitations. Consequently, the Court will deny Petitioner's motion for a stay of the proceedings. Should Petitioner decide not to pursue his unexhausted claims in the state courts, he may file a new petition raising only his two exhausted claims at any time before the expiration of the limitations period.

<sup>1</sup>The running of the statute of limitations is tolled while "a properly filed application for State post-conviction or other collateral review with respect to the pertinent judgment or claim is pending." 28 U.S.C. § 2244(d)(2).
