| 26 | JUDGE BISK: Okay. This is IPR2013-00047. | | | | | | | |
| 27 | JUDGE McKELVEY: Mr. Goldman, I have a few | | | | | | | |
| 28 | questions on this case. | | | | | | | |
| 29 | MR. GOLDMAN: I'm ready to answer them, I | | | | | | | |
| 30 | hope. | | | | | | | |
| 31 | JUDGE McKELVEY: First of all, there's three | | | | | | | |
| 32 | grounds anticipation. Have you withdrawn your petition as | | | | | | | |
| | | | | | | | | |
| 33 | to Edwards? | | | | | | | |

| 1 | MR. GOLDMAN: We're not I guess the answer |
|----|--|
| 2 | would be directly we're not relying on it, so I guess yes, we |
| 3 | will withdraw. |
| 4 | JUDGE McKELVEY: So, that's a yes, you're not |
| 5 | relying on it. Now, the next thing is, is there was some |
| 6 | evidence put in with the reply brief which is the subject of a |
| 7 | motion to exclude, and at the reply stage, are you no longer |
| 8 | relying on the case you made in the petition, based on the |
| 9 | discovery that occurred at some point, or not? |
| 10 | MR. GOLDMAN: Well, I think that's a very hard |
| 11 | question to answer, to be very frank. We have, I think, been |
| 12 | quite forthcoming in acknowledging that there were some |
| 13 | scientific errors that were in the initial case. So, we have |
| 14 | that issue. On the other hand, we have a patent that is quite |
| 15 | broad, claim-wise, and |
| 16 | JUDGE McKELVEY: Okay, that's fine, it's got a |
| 17 | broad |
| 18 | MR. GOLDMAN: So, the issue is, then, well, |
| 19 | how relevant or not relevant is that data, given that we have |
| 20 | claims that are virtually impossible to fathom the scope of. |
| 21 | JUDGE McKELVEY: Well, so I'm trying to |
| 22 | figure out whether we have to analyze the initial data in |
| 23 | light of what your witnesses discovered and what the |
| 24 | opposition says, I guess it's the Patent Owner's response, or |

| 1 | is the merits | 001011 | hasad on | the naw | avidanca | that | como | in |
|---|---------------|--------|----------|---------|-----------|------|------|-----|
| 1 | is the merits | SUICIY | bascu on | the hew | CVIUCIICC | unai | came | 111 |

- 2 with the reply.
- 3 MR. GOLDMAN: I think our primary view is
- 4 that you should rely on the reply evidence. Like I said,
- 5 given the breadth of the claims, and the indefinite nature of
- 6 them, I am not entirely comfortable with saying that the
- 7 early data is totally irrelevant. There is a scientific error
- 8 with it, but there's no indication -- there's not much
- 9 indication in the claims of how you do the test and there's
- 10 not much indication in the spec of how you do the test.
- So, our -- you know, that's -- I'm troubled to say,
- well, just ignore the data, but I'd say, you know, our primary
- 13 reliance is on the later data.
- JUDGE BISK: Can I ask why this wouldn't be
- supplemental evidence that you shouldn't have filed a motion
- 16 to supplement to bring it in?
- 17 MR. GOLDMAN: I guess we looked at it as
- 18 evidence to respond to their criticisms of our case in their
- 19 opposition papers.
- JUDGE OBERMANN: But what I'm hearing is
- 21 it's required to make out your case in chief. Is that correct?
- 22 Could you rest on your petition evidence at this point?
- MR. GOLDMAN: We think the -- as far as the --
- on the art, there is issues with the science, and so I think
- 25 unless you're going to -- if you're going to say the claims are

- 1 so broad that they read on doing an RAU test in any way,
- 2 which might be true, we can't rely on the initial data. You
- 3 know, if you're going to say you can't rely on the initial data
- 4 because of the scientific errors that occurred there, then, you
- 5 know, I don't see how we can rely on it.
- 6 JUDGE OBERMANN: So, just to be clear, if the
- 7 universe of the evidence were your petition evidence, you
- 8 would lose?
- 9 MR. GOLDMAN: I don't think I quite said that,
- 10 but I think it all depends how you construe the claims. I
- 11 think if you construe the claims as very broad, that it could
- read on any percentage RAU test that was done, I think it's
- conceivable that you could read the results on that, but like I
- said, there's a scientific issue with the results.
- 15 JUDGE YANG: Counsel, I understand there is an
- overlapping issue with this case and 52, right?
- MR. GOLDMAN: Yes.
- JUDGE YANG: Do you plan to argue something
- similar in 52, or we should just direct all the questions here?
- MR. GOLDMAN: I have a little bit to say about
- 21 52, but not very much. They're very similar issues.
- JUDGE McKELVEY: So, what changed -- were
- you done?
- JUDGE YANG: I do have a follow-up question.
- 25 So, you said your test depends on the claim construction, but
