ON BEHALF OF PATENT OWNER:

DAVID K. CALLAHAN, ESQUIRE BOB STEINBERG, ESQUIRE Latham & Watkins, LLP 330 North Wabash Avenue, Suite 2800 Chicago, Illinois 60611

1	PROCEEDINGS
2
3	JUDGE FITZPATRICK: Good morning. Judge
4	Daniels, are you hearing us?
5	JUDGE DANIELS: Good morning. I can hear you just
6	fine. I'll keep my microphone off so there's no feedback for the
7	time being.
8	JUDGE FITZPATRICK: Excellent. I am Judge
9	Fitzpatrick. This is Judge Barrett to my right, and Judge Daniels
10	is joining us remotely. This is the hearing for five related IPRs,
11	IPR2015-00884, 00888, 00889, 00891 and 00893. And why don't
12	we have the counsel, starting with the petitioner, introduce who is
13	here. If you could go to the podium to introduce yourself so the
14	microphone so Judge Daniels can hear you.
15	MR. MURTHY: Good morning, Your Honor. Sanjay
16	Murthy on behalf of petitioner, and with me is Ben Weed.
17	JUDGE FITZPATRICK: Will you both be arguing?
18	MR. MURTHY: I'll be presenting the argument for
19	petitioner, Your Honor.
20	MR. STEINBERG: Good morning, Your Honor. Bob
21	Steinberg, Latham & Watkins for the patent owner. Dave
22	Callahan is going to also with Latham & Watkins do the
23	presentation today.

DOCKET

1	MR. CALLAHAN: Good morning, Your Honor.
2	JUDGE FITZPATRICK: Each side has 60 minutes.
3	We'll obviously start with petitioner. If patent owner is going to
4	argue orally its motion to exclude, it's going to have to bring that
5	up during its time, which will come second.
6	I know there were objections to the demonstratives. To
7	the extent that either side wants to use their limited time to
8	address those, they can, but it's going to there's no additional
9	time to do so. And there was a lot of demonstratives that were
10	provided by both sides, and to the extent that they are not used
11	today, I can't imagine them being relied on. So they are not going
12	in the record. So keep that in mind.
13	And because Judge Daniels is remote, when you have a
14	demonstrative up on the slide, for example, petitioner's slide 1, if
15	you are going to reference it, mention the slide number so that
16	Judge Daniels can hear you.
17	With that, we'll begin with petitioner. I'm going to
18	manually keep track of time here. So let me know if you want to
19	reserve some time, and I can let you know when you're getting
20	close to the cutoff.
21	MR. MURTHY: Yes, Your Honor. I was actually
22	planning on reserving 20 minutes for rebuttal.
23	JUDGE FITZPATRICK: Okay. You may proceed.

DOCKET

1 MR. MURTHY: Thank you, Your Honor. May it 2 please the Board, this case presents a classic KSR scenario. The 3 patent claims at issue in these proceedings all relate to 4 off-the-shelf components that are performing functions that were 5 previously described in the art. 6 What the patent owner has done here is literally taken 7 its preexisting device and added a transceiver to it to perform an 8 otherwise known and established verification function. That's the 9 sum and substance of the inventions that are claimed here. And 10 the specification barely mentions the transceiver at all other than 11 to say that it exists. The patent owner certainly did not invent a new transceiver in developing this invention and they don't claim 12 anywhere in their papers to have done so. 13 14 In preparing for this argument, I went back and again 15 reread the patents very closely to see if there was any new 16 hardware described in the specification, and I found none. The 17 patent owner has provided voluminous slides. There are over 100 slides in their presentation. The Board will look in vain for any 18 19 new hardware in any of those slides. There simply is none. 20 You had an established nitric oxide delivery device 21 that's described in the '083 patent. You had the '510 patent which 22 describes a smart handle specifically designed for use with the 23 nitric oxide delivery system of the '083 patent. That smart handle
