DECISION
Institution of Inter Partes Review
37 C.F.R. § 42.108

Motion for Joinder
37 C.F.R. § 42.122(b)

INTRODUCTION

On September 6, 2016, Oracle America, Inc. (“Oracle”) filed a Petition (Paper 5, “Pet.”) requesting inter partes review of claims 1–5, 9–12, 14, 18, 19, and 24 (“the challenged claims”) of U.S. Patent No. 7,415,530 C1 (Ex. 1001, “the ’530 patent”). Concurrently with the Petition, Oracle filed a Motion for Joinder (Paper 2, “Mot.”), requesting that this proceeding be joined with Dell Inc. v. Realtime Data LLC, Case IPR2016-00972 (“972 IPR”). Mot. 1. Patent Owner Realtime Data LLC (“Realtime”) filed an Opposition to the Motion for Joinder (Paper 11, “Opp.”) on October 6, 2016. Oracle filed a Reply to the Opposition to the Motion (Paper 12, “Reply”) on November 7, 2016.

For the reasons discussed below, we institute an inter partes review of all challenged claims and grant Oracle’s Motion for Joinder.

INSTITUTION OF INTER PARTES REVIEW

In the 972 IPR, we instituted an inter partes review of claims 1–5, 9–12, 14, 18, 19, and 24 of the ’530 patent as allegedly unpatentable on the following asserted grounds:

Challenged Claim(s)	Asserted Prior Art
1, 9–11, 14, 18	Franaszek ¹ and Osterlund ²
2–5	Franaszek, Osterlund, and Fall ³

² U.S. Patent No. 5,247,646, issued Sept. 21, 1993 (972 IPR, Ex. 1005, “Osterlund”).

³ U.S. Patent No. 5,991,515, filed July 15, 1997, issued Nov. 23, 1999 (972 IPR, Ex. 1007, “Fall”).

Challenged Claim(s)	Asserted Prior Art
12	Franaszek, Osterlund, and Assar ⁴
19	Franaszek, Osterlund, and Crawford ⁵
24	Franaszek, Osterlund, Clark, ⁶ and Rynderman ⁷

972 IPR, slip op. at 19–20 (PTAB Nov. 1, 2016) (Paper 24). The Petition in this proceeding challenges the same claims on identical grounds of unpatentability, and relies on the same evidence and arguments as presented in the 972 IPR. Pet. 1; Mot. 2. Oracle represents that the Petition “copies verbatim the challenges set forth in the petition in [the 972 IPR] and relies upon the same evidence, including the same expert declaration.” Pet. 1; see Mot. 2. Realtime did not file a preliminary response and has not presented any arguments regarding the merits of the Petition.

For the above reasons, in particular the fact that the present Petition is virtually identical to the petition in the 972 IPR, we determine Oracle has demonstrated sufficiently under 35 U.S.C. § 314 that an inter partes review should be instituted in this proceeding on the same grounds of unpatentability as the grounds on which we instituted inter partes review in the 972 IPR.

⁴ U.S. Patent No. 5,479,638, issued Dec. 26, 1995 (972 IPR, Ex. 1016, “Assar”).

⁵ U.S. Patent No. 5,771,354, issued June 23, 1998 (972 IPR, Ex. 1009, “Crawford”).

⁶ U.S. Patent No. 5,319,682, issued June 7, 1994 (972 IPR, Ex. 1008, “Clark”).

⁷ U.S. Patent No. 5,563,961, issued Oct. 8, 1996 (972 IPR, Ex. 1006, “Rynderman”).

MOTION FOR JOINDER

An inter partes review may be joined with another inter partes review, subject to certain statutory provisions:

(c) JOINDER.—If the Director institutes an inter partes review, the Director, in his or her discretion, may join as a party to that inter partes review any person who properly files a petition under section 311 that the Director, after receiving a preliminary response under section 313 or the expiration of the time for filing such a response, determines warrants the institution of an inter parties review under section 314.

35 U.S.C. § 315(c); see also 37 C.F.R. § 42.122. As the moving party, Oracle bears the burden of proving that it is entitled to the requested relief. 37 C.F.R. § 42.20(c).

As an initial matter, the Motion for Joinder meets the requirements of 37 C.F.R. § 42.122(b) because the Motion was filed on September 6, 2016, which is not later than one month after the 972 IPR was instituted on November 1, 2016.

Additionally, the present Petition challenges the same claims of the same patent as those under inter partes review in the 972 IPR, and the Petition also asserts the same grounds of unpatentability based on the same prior art and the same evidence, including the same declaration testimony. Mot. 2; compare Pet. 4–6, with 972 IPR, Paper 10, 7–8. The Petition does not assert any other grounds of unpatentability, or present any new evidence not already of record in the 972 IPR. Indeed, the Petition repeats verbatim most of the content of the petition in the 972 IPR. See Pet. 1; Mot. 7–8.

Oracle further asserts that granting joinder would not require any alterations to the existing scheduling order in the 972 IPR. Mot. 8–9.

Moreover, Oracle represents that it “has agreed to not materially participate in the joined proceedings unless and until the parties to [the 972 IPR] are dismissed from the joined proceedings or elect to transfer control to [Oracle], as may occur in the event of settlement or advanced settlement negotiations.” Id. at 9. As such, Oracle “does not intend to file separate papers or conduct separate cross examinations of any witnesses,” if joined to the 972 IPR. Id. at 10. Oracle also represents that the petitioners in the 972 IPR do not oppose joinder of the present proceeding. Id. at 6.

According to Oracle, joinder “will promote the efficient determination of validity of the challenged claims of the ’530 patent,” because a final written decision in the 972 IPR potentially could minimize the issues in all of the underlying litigation in which the ’530 patent has been asserted. Id. at 6–7. Oracle asserts that Realtime would not be prejudiced because the schedule of the 972 IPR would be unchanged, and Realtime would not take on additional costs or burden because of the overlap between the present Petition and the 972 IPR petition. Id. at 7–9. In addition, Oracle argues that briefing and discovery could be simplified if joinder is granted. Id. at 10.

Realtime argues that the fact that the present Petition and the 972 IPR petition are similar is not dispositive. Opp. 1–2. According to Realtime, Oracle failed to demonstrate it is entitled to joinder because it did not explain why it could not have included the arguments and grounds in the present Petition in an earlier petition it filed in IPR2016-00375. Id. at 2–6. In IPR2016-00375, Oracle challenged some, but not all, of the claims challenged in the present Petition based on different prior art references. See Oracle Am., Inc. v. Realtime Data LLC, Case IPR2016-00375, slip op. at 3–4 (PTAB July 1, 2016). The petition in that case was denied, and no inter partes review was instituted. Id. at 12. Realtime asserts that Oracle, thus,
