Parts Manual Drawing and Bill of Materials Conventions

All Lowest Replaceable Units (LRUs) are identified to facilitate ordering the proper assembly or part for replacement. On the drawings, the "circled" numbers (those surrounded by a circle) and the "boxed" numbers (those surrounded by a box) correspond to the item number on the accompanying parts list, or "bill of materials".

The "circled" numbers on the drawings indicate the LRU. This is the Lowest Replaceable Unit, or assembly that can be purchased. Although assembly drawings for "circled" items do not exist, the "bill of materials" is included.

The "boxed" numbers on the drawings indicate that there is additional detail provided at a lower assembly level. Determine the "boxed" number corresponding to the assembly desired, and then locate the assembly drawing for more detail.
