1 identify yourself each time you speak. This helps the court reporter prepare 2 an accurate transcript, and because of the ways our radio technology help 3 works, it gives a little time for us to make sure you're the active window on 4 our screens. Fourth, we have the entire record including demonstratives at 5 our fingertips, but we are all fumbling with our devices to make sure that we 6 get everything on the screen at the proper times, so when referring to 7 demonstratives papers or exhibits, please do so clearly and explicitly by 8 slide and/or tapes number, or page numbering.

9 You might also pause a few seconds after identifying and to let 10 everyone catch up with you. This, again, always helps us keep an accurate 11 transcript to make sure we're following along. Finally, our hearing in this 12 case is not open to the public. We have denied public hearing requests due to 13 confidential information that has been filed, at least temporarily, under seal.
14 Nonetheless, I'm going to request if you are discussing sealed or 15 confidential information, you try to note it during your presentation. It helps 16 us with the transcript, and I think it also might sort of reinforce that we want 17 to make sure that, you know, remind us to keep track that there's no public 18 parties listening in.

19 So at this time with those instructions and concepts that are being laid 20 out, we'll turn to our normal practice which is having the parties identify 21 themselves and who is joining them remotely by video and/or audio, and 22 we'll start with Petitioner, so I'm asking the Petitioner to make their 23 appearances and obviously state your names for the record.

24 MR. MODI: Good morning, Your Honors. This is Naveen Modi on 25 behalf of Petitioner Google. With me, I have my colleague Daniel

IPR2019-00728 (Patent 6,851,115 B1)
IPR2019-00730 and IPR2019-00731 (Patent 7,069,560 B1)
IPR2019-00733 and IPR2019-00734 (Patent 7,036,128 B1)

1 Zeilberger. He is joining by video. Both Mr. Zeilberger and I will be 2 presenting for Google today, and then on the phone we should have a few 3 individuals on our end, Mr. Joe Palys and Mr. Arvind Jairam, again both 4 from the law firm of Paul Hastings. I also understand that we have Mr.
5 Mike Hendershot and Mr. Evan McLean from Jones Day, and we also have 6 a client representative on the line from Google, Mr. Timur Engin. Thank 7 you, Your Honors.

8 JUDGE JEFFERSON: Thank you. And for the --

9 MR. HARTSELL: Good morning, Your Honors.

10 JUDGE JEFFERSON: -- for the Patent Owner, please, the same.
11 Good morning.

12 MR. HARTSELL: Good morning, Your Honors. This is Steven 13 Hartsell here today representing Patent Owner IPA Technologies. In the 14 same room with me are my colleagues Jamie Olin and Sadif Abdullah, and I 15 will be presenting today on behalf of Patent Owner.

16 JUDGE JEFFERSON: Good morning. Thank you for that. At least 17 you have someone in the room with you. I couldn't help but -- I mean, we 18 get these artificial things. So as I said, one of the things that we have in our 19 trial order, each party has 90 minutes in total to present its argument in each 20 case. Petitioner has the burden for showing unpatentability and will go first, 21 and our Patent Owner will then proceed. Each party may reserve rebuttal 22 time and should let us know at the beginning of their presentation, and 23 repeat again for clarity of the transcript, please state where you are. It helps 24 just to follow certainly your arguments, and we again have all your papers 25 and exhibits with us.
