ORDER²
Conduct of the Proceeding
37 C.F.R. §§ 42.5, 42.20(d)

BACKGROUND

On August 26, 2020, we held a conference call between the parties and Judges Horner, Grossman, Mayberry, and Finamore. In the call, Petitioner, One World Technologies, Inc., d/b/a Techtronic Industries Power Equipment (“One World”) sought authorization to (1) file a Reply to the Patent Owner Preliminary Responses in IPR2020-00883, -00884, -00885, -00886, -00887, and -00888 and (2) update its mandatory notices in the six proceedings to add three real parties-in-interest (“RPIs”). At the end of the conference call, Petitioner added that at least the RPI issue also may apply to three post-grant review proceedings: PGR2020-00059, PGR2020-00060, and PGR2020-00061.

Patent Owner, Chervon (HK) Ltd. (“Chervon”), objected to the requests.

² This Order addresses issues that are the same in all listed cases. We do not authorize the parties to use this style heading for any subsequent papers at this time.

SUMMARY OF THE PARTIES' POSITIONS AND PANEL'S ANALYSIS

Reply

One World requests to file a Reply to Chervon's Preliminary Response to address discretionary denial under 35 U.S.C. § 314(a) and, specifically, Chervon's analysis of the Fintiv factors. On May 5, 2020, the Board made an Order in Apple Inc. v. Fintiv, Inc., precedential. IPR2020-00019, Paper 11 (PTAB Mar. 20, 2020) (precedential) ("Fintiv"). The Order provides factors the Board balances in addressing whether the Board should exercise its discretion under § 314(a) to not institute a proceeding because of a parallel proceeding, as provided in our precedential decision in NHK Spring Co. v. Intri-Plex Techs., Inc., IPR2018-00752, Paper 8 (PTAB Sept. 12, 2018) ("NHK"). See Fintiv at 5–6.

One World argued that we designated Fintiv precedential after One World had filed its Petitions in the six inter partes review proceedings but before Chervon's Preliminary Responses. One World also argued that NHK is distinguishable from the facts of these six inter partes review proceedings, so One World had no reason to address the issue in the Petitions.

Chervon argued that One World should have addressed the parallel litigation and discretionary denial in its Petitions. Chervon added that the Board designated NHK as precedential prior to One World filing its Petitions, yet One World did not address the parallel district court litigation under NHK.

We determine, based on our review of the current records of the six inter partes review proceedings, that additional briefing on this issue would not benefit the Board. Accordingly, we deny One World's request to file Replies to the Preliminary Responses in these six inter partes review proceedings. We do not address this request for the three above-identified post-grant review proceedings.³

Real Parties-in-Interest

One World seeks authorization to update its mandatory notices to add three parties as real parties-in-interest in the six above-identified inter partes review proceedings without changing the filing date for the Petitions. During the call, One World also indicated that this issue may apply to the three above-identified post-grant review proceedings as well.

One World indicated that Chervon's contentions in its Preliminary Responses concerning One World's failure to name all real parties-in-interest are based on faulty facts, but One World stated it is willing to add the parties identified by Chervon as real parties-in-interest. One World defended its decision to originally not include the parties in the Petitions, arguing that the parties are not real parties-in-interest. One World indicated that, if the current filing dates are maintained, then adding the parties would not result in a time bar under 35 U.S.C. § 315(b).

Chervon responded that One World knew of these parties, two of which are co-defendants in parallel litigation, and had the obligation to identify the parties as real parties-in-interest in the Petitions. Chervon contended that, if the parties are added now, the filing dates of the Petitions should change, resulting in a time bar for the parties.

As an initial matter, we interpret One World's request as seeking authorization to file a motion to update the identified real parties-in-interest without changing the filing date for the effected Petitions. See 37 C.F.R. § 42.20(a) (2020) ("Relief, other than a petition requesting the institution of a trial, must be requested in the form of a motion."); see also 37 C.F.R. § 42.8(a) (allowing updates to mandatory notices without a motion, but only for changes and only if made within the prescribed time frame). For the reasons explained below, we grant authorization for the motion. That is, prior to us allowing One World to update its mandatory notices to add the parties as real parties-in-interest, One World must demonstrate that such an update is warranted without a corresponding change in the filing dates of the Petitions.
