EMS (Electrical Muscle Stimulation)

EMS (Electrical Muscle Stimulation) activates skin cells to boost collagen production, enhancing skin elasticity, reducing wrinkles, and promoting a smooth, healthy appearance through rejuvenation.

Sonic Vibration

Sonic vibrations applied to the face stimulate skin cells, inducing a micro-massage effect and altering cell volume. This process enhances local blood and lymph circulation, strengthens cell permeability, improves tissue metabolism and regeneration, softens tissue, and stimulates the nervous system and cell function. The result is radiant, elastic skin.

RF (Radio Frequency)

Radio Frequency (RF) energy, operating at levels ranging from 60 to 110 KHz, leverages the skin's natural resistance to convert applied energy into heat. This thermal energy penetrates different skin layers, promoting collagen contraction and the generation of new collagen. RF treatments accommodate all skin types and offer adjustable penetration depths for enhanced rejuvenation.

Hot Massager

During massage, the skin may experience a mild warmth sensation. EMS current stimulates muscle movement, generating heat, typically around 40 degrees Celsius. This gentle heat can open pores, facilitating the absorption of facial creams and enhancing their effectiveness.

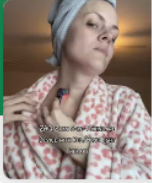

7 Color LED Light Therapy:

LED light therapy utilizes different wavelengths to address various skin concerns, including boosting collagen, treating acne, minimizing wrinkles, sun damage, and stretch marks. The energy from specific colored lights penetrates the skin, promoting rejuvenation and reducing redness. Wavelengths like purple, green, blue, red, cyan, and white are commonly used for these treatments.

ZAQ Zayn Red & Blue LED Light...

Red - 630nm

stimulates collagen production, effectively reducing the appearance of fine lines and wrinkles and enhancing overall skin rejuvenation.

White - Flashing mode

White light tightens skin and reduces inflammation for a healthy glow, while amber light offers targeted benefits.

Orange - 590nm

improves fine lines, boosts collagen, reduces inflammation, and enhances circulation, revitalizing dull complexions. It's ideal for achieving a radiant glow for special occasions.

Blue - 415nm

Blue light targets acne-causing bacteria, reduces inflammation, and helps regulate oil production, promoting clearer skin.

Green - 525nm

Green light helps to reduce hyperpigmentation, calm irritated skin, and improve overall skin tone, leaving your complexion looking more even and radiant.

Purple - 390nm

Purple light combines the benefits of red and blue light, making it effective for targeting acne and promoting overall skin rejuvenation.

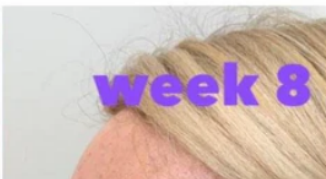

Cyan - 490nm

Cyan light can help soothe sensitive skin, reduce redness, and promote a calm complexion, contributing to a more balanced and refreshed appearance.

Great tool

The only thing I didn't realize before purchasing is that it Cycles through the modalities you don't pick one and work with it it just Cycles through it doesn't make it a bad machine I just didn't realize it and truth be told I probably would have liked the ability to choose which modality I wanted...
